

Active & Passive Voice Worksheets

Active & Passive Voice

An active voice can be defined as a clause or sentence in which a subject performs an action through a verb. For example: Sam is writing a letter.

A passive voice can be defined as a type of a clause or sentence in which an action, or an object of a sentence, is emphasized rather than its subject. For example: The letter is being written by Sam.

Q. Circle “A” if the sentence is written in active voice or circle “P” if the sentence is written in passive voice.

- | | |
|---|-------|
| 1. I eat an apple. | A / P |
| 2. A car was bought by him. | A / P |
| 3. The students viewed the comet. | A / P |
| 4. The entire building was painted by Ron. | A / P |
| 5. Ron changed the flat tire. | A / P |
| 6. Mom read the novel. | A / P |
| 7. A movie is going to be watched by us. | A / P |
| 8. The cat chased the rat. | A / P |
| 9. The two officials are signing the treaty. | A / P |
| 10. That piece is really enjoyed by the band. | A / P |

Active & Passive Voice

An active voice can be defined as a clause or sentence in which a subject performs an action through a verb. For example: Sam is writing a letter.

A passive voice can be defined as a type of a clause or sentence in which an action, or an object of a sentence, is emphasized rather than its subject. For example: The letter is being written by Sam.

Q. Circle “A” if the sentence is written in active voice or circle “P” if the sentence is written in passive voice.

- | | |
|---|-------|
| 1. Anna sent the mail. | A / P |
| 2. Monkeys like bananas. | A / P |
| 3. The money was counted by the cashier. | A / P |
| 4. The dog chased the cat. | A / P |
| 5. He was not beaten by me. | A / P |
| 6. Mother made a pancake yesterday. | A / P |
| 7. The juniors were teased by the seniors. | A / P |
| 8. The lion was chasing the deer. | A / P |
| 9. She has written a novel. | A / P |
| 10. The criminal has been caught by the police. | A / P |

Active & Passive Voice

An active voice can be defined as a clause or sentence in which a subject performs an action through a verb. For example: Sam is writing a letter.

A passive voice can be defined as a type of a clause or sentence in which an action, or an object of a sentence, is emphasized rather than its subject. For example: The letter is being written by Sam.

Q. Circle “A” if the sentence is written in active voice or circle “P” if the sentence is written in passive voice.

1. I eat an apple. (A) / P
2. A car was bought by him. A / (P)
3. The students viewed the comet. (A) / P
4. The entire building was painted by Ron. A / (P)
5. Ron changed the flat tire. (A) / P
6. Mom read the novel. (A) / P
7. A movie is going to be watched by us. A / (P)
8. The cat chased the rat. (A) / P
9. The two officials are signing the treaty. (A) / P
10. That piece is really enjoyed by the band. A / (P)

Active & Passive Voice

An active voice can be defined as a clause or sentence in which a subject performs an action through a verb. For example: Sam is writing a letter.

A passive voice can be defined as a type of a clause or sentence in which an action, or an object of a sentence, is emphasized rather than its subject. For example: The letter is being written by Sam.

Q. Circle “A” if the sentence is written in active voice or circle “P” if the sentence is written in passive voice.

1. Anna sent the mail. A / P
2. Monkeys like bananas. A / P
3. The money was counted by the cashier. A / P
4. The dog chased the cat. A / P
5. He was not beaten by me. A / P
6. Mother made a pancake yesterday. A / P
7. The juniors were teased by the seniors. A / P
8. The lion was chasing the deer. A / P
9. She has written a novel. A / P
10. The criminal has been caught by the police. A / P