Friends and Music

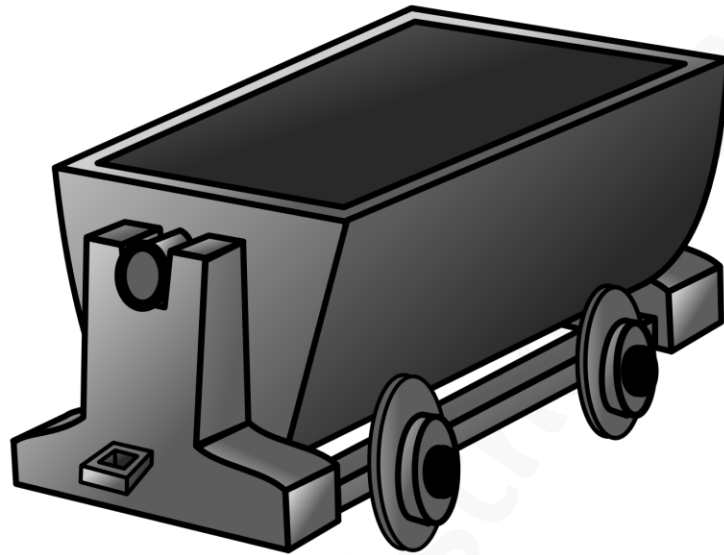

It is a very pleasurable way to spend winter evenings, and my younger friends like it much. All young people should learn music.

Lucy and Jane

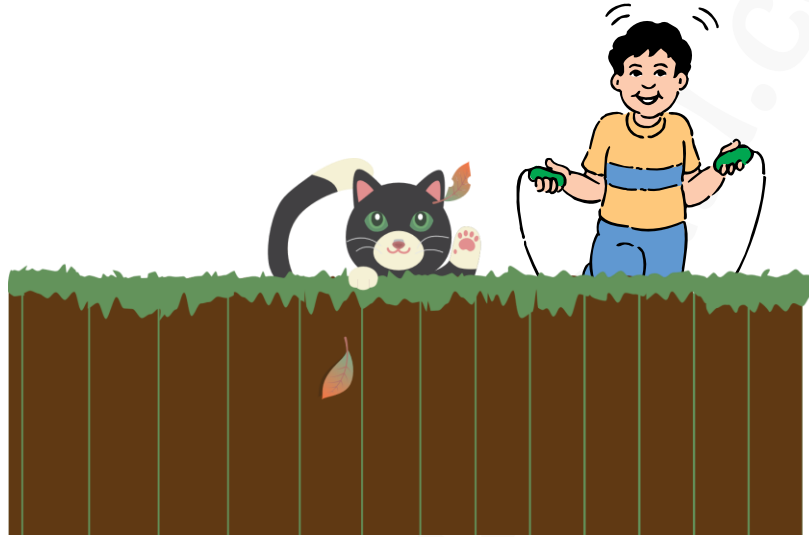

You know those little girls who think they're chefs? Lucy and Jane are the cutest. They were in the kitchen this morning and Lucy was standing on a stool stirring a pot while Jane watched over the cups on the stove.

My Lovely Little Car

The third wheel came off yesterday, and now the fourth wheel is gone. But no need to fret, little one! Papa will fix it all up and then you'll be rolling down the street in your pretty new carriage again!

Playing in the Garden

The sun has been up for hours, but baby is still asleep. And it's not because he's lazy; he went to bed very tired last night. He had been out all day playing in the garden.
