

The bear was feeling a bit peckish, so he decided to make himself a pizza. He had never cooked one before, but he was determined to give it a try. He gathered all the ingredients he needed, including some fresh dough, some delicious toppings, and some gooey cheese. He preheated the oven, and then carefully rolled out the dough and added the toppings. He popped the pizza into the oven and waited patiently for it to cook.

1. Who is cooking the pizza?
2. What ingredients does the bear need for pizza?
3. How does he roll out the dough?
4. What are some good toppings for a pizza?

Deep in the heart of the forest, a wolf and a lion were having a heated conversation. The wolf was insisting that he was the true leader of the jungle, and that the lion should step aside and let him take charge. The lion was confused, as he had always thought that he was the leader of the jungle. He tried to explain this to the wolf, but the wolf just laughed and dismissed his claims. As the argument raged on, the other animals of the forest began to gather around, curious to see what was happening.

1. What was the source of contention between the wolf and the lion?
2. Why did the wolf think he was the true leader of the jungle?
3. How did the lion react to the wolf's claims?
4. Why did the other animals of the forest gather around?

<https://whatistheurl.com>

Tim is a 2nd grader starting at a new school. He is nervous but excited to make new friends and learn new things. His teacher, Mrs. Jones, helps him feel welcome and introduces him to the other students. Tim has a great first day and is looking forward to learning more in 2nd grade. He is especially excited to learn about the solar system and hopes to use the classroom telescope to see the planets and stars. Tim is eager to see what the rest of the school year has in store for him.

1. How did Mrs. Jones help Tim feel welcome?
2. What new things will Tim learn in 2nd grade?
3. What is Tim most excited to learn about?
4. How will Tim use the classroom telescope?

One sunny day, a group of second graders went on a field trip to the beach. They were delighted to see the ocean and all the creatures that lived there. As they walked along the shore, they saw crabs scurrying in the sand and seagulls soaring overhead. But the best part of the trip was when they saw a pod of dolphins swimming and jumping in the water. The students were amazed by the dolphins' grace and speed, and they couldn't believe how close they were able to get.

1. What grade were the students in?
2. Where did they go on their field trip?
3. What did the students see when they were walking along the shore?
4. What was the best part of the trip?
5. What amazed the students about the dolphins?